Kyrgyzstan at the Paralympics Kyrgyzstan has competed at every Summer Paralympic Games that has been held since the inaugural edition of the Summer Paralympics in 1976. The country has made its sole appearance at the Winter Paralympic Games, taking part in the alpine skiing events in 2014. History Kyrgyzstan made its Paralympic Games debut at the 1976 Summer Paralympics in Toronto, with one athlete competing in one sport, its only appearance, in the sport of swimming. The country has since attended every summer Paralympic Games to have been held since. The country's sole participation in the Winter Paralympics was at the 2014 Winter Paralympics in Sochi, where they took part in alpine skiing. The country has historically been represented by several different national sports organizations. In the early years, the male wheelchair division was not allowed to compete in the skiing events, but in 1977, Farkhod Karaev was the country's first-ever Paralympian to compete in alpine skiing.
